Bare Red Spy Net That 'Turned War Tide'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The army unfolded today the sensational story of a Russian spy ring that looted the Japanese cabinet and German embassy in Tokyo of secrets that helped turn the tide of war.

The super-network tipped Russia that Germany would attack her and that Japan would not.

It "probably" was the best and boldest ring in all history. The army says so in a 32,000-word report on what made it tick. Gen Douglas MacArthur sent the report from Tokyo.

Most of the ringleaders are dead. The master spy was a German, Dr. Richard Sorge. His first lieutenant was a Japanese traitor, Ozako Hozumi. Both hid their spying under the cloak of newspaper assignments. They were hanged.

But the report says tag ends of the network still may be busy in world capitals. It says an American author, Agnes Smedley, operated in Shanghai and "is a spy and agent of the Soviet government.

This "case study in international espionage in the Far East" reads like an Oriental serial from Hollywood. It even has the crime-doesn't-pay ending with a novel twist:

The man who unknowingly betrayed the spy chain now is one of Japan's top communists.

The report says that:

The Japanese smashed the ring almost by accident, just before Pearl Harbor in 1941.

By then it had picked off the secret it wanted most — assurance that Japan would not jump Russia. That let the Reds rush troops across Siberia to halt the German drive on Moscow.

Information from the ring was of "incalculable" value and cost almost nothing.

Three Japanese who used to live in America were in the ring, one at the top level.

The ring knew the trend of Japanese-American negotiations in the critical summer and fall of 1941. It had an "in" with Japan's Premier Knoe.

But there is no hint it got a tip on the Pearl Harbor raid.

Some second-hand information leaked from the American embassy in Tokyo.

An American diplomat at Harbin, Manchuria, vice-Consul Tycho L. Lilliestorm, let two Soviet agents stay at his home and one set up an illegal radio station, the report says. That was in 1929.

Still "at large," it says, are Missouri-born Miss Smedley and Guenther Stein, a German who now may be an American and who was a temporary but "Top-level member" of the Tokyo ring from 1936 to 1938.

Each has written books on China. Who's Who says they get mail in New York City.

The report says Stein is "a man about whom too little is known."

Miss Smedley is described as the go-between who first brought Sorge and Ozaki Hozumi, his right hand man, together. That was in China, where they operated for a time, around 1929 to 1932 and 1933.

Sorge was a professional German communist posing as a swaggering nazi. He used a newspaper assignment as a cover, and the German embassy in Tokyo as if he owned it.

Hozumi was another newspaperman and writer. He became adviser to the cabinet and confidante of the "brain trust" of Prince-Premier Knoe. He was consulted on the highest secrets, and sent them on to Moscow.

There were no Russians in the ring. That was a rule. Mostly there were Japanese and a few Germans.

Three of the Japanese lived in Los Angeles for years. The report goes on:

Miyagi Yotoko was an artist and key man. Akiyama Koji was a translator and the only member of the gang in it for money. Mrs. Kitabayahi Tomo was a dressmaker and the thread that unravelled the whole network.

TALE OF INTRIGUE

How they and the rest of the espionage crew worked, and were betrayed by communist into Ritsu, is a tale of intrigue, romance, possible torture and death.

It is a thriller of blinking lights, codes, hidden radios never set up in the same spot twice. It involves fake passports, microfilms passed

More Facts Due; Writers Deny Spying

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The House un-American activities committee prepared today to seek further details from army and navy intelligence chiefs on the pre-war communist spy ring in Japan. Both naval and army intelligence officers are to appear before the committee tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Agnes Smedley and Guenther Stein, well-known writers, both denied U. S. Army charges that they were members of the spy ring in Japan.

TRUMAN FLAYS 'INFAMOUS' RED TRIAL

Denies Luckie Slaying

Hearing Set For Saturday

William Lockridge, 32, of 834 North Main street, today pleaded innocent in municipal court to a charge of murdering Clayton Luckie, former Senior high school athlete, during an argument on North Main street Saturday night.

Preliminary hearing of the first-degree murder charge was set for Saturday after City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch informed the court that several state witnesses, including Dr. D. C. Lavender, county coroner, were not present.

The courtroom started filling about 8:45 a. m. and when court convened at 9:35 every seat was taken and all standing room was occupied. There were more than 150 persons in the room.

After Municipal Court Judge H. H. Schettler informed Lockridge of the charge against him and of his constitutional right to be defended by counsel, Attorney Lydon H. Beam, who defended Robert Murl Daniels, entered an innocent plea for Lockridge.

Lockridge, who was escorted to and from the courtroom by two city detectives, was held without bond for Saturday's hearing.

Luckie was slain Saturday night at about 10:30 in front of the Paradise club, located at 224½ North Main street.

Police said Lockridge and Luckie had never met until the night of the shooting. They said that after a minor argument in the Paradise club, Luckie and Lockridge left, continuing to argue as they went down the stairs.

While Luckie was standing on the sidewalk and Lockridge in the doorway, police allege that Lockridge shot Luckie, once in the mouth and three times in the legs. He died on the way to the hospital.

Despite the police claim that Luckie and Lockridge never met prior to Saturday night, rumors persisted today that there was more to the incident than a heated spur-of-the-moment quarrel.

Luckie has been mentioned as an agent for one of the three known numbers racket operators in Mansfield.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said, however, that he had never heard of Luckie being connected with a numbers game.

Clear Way For Church Merger

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The way was cleared today for final approval, possibly by June, of a merger between the Congregational Christian churches and the Evangelical and Reformed church.

Another step toward eventual merger of the two groups was taken last night in Cleveland when the general council of the Evangelical church voted unanimously to call a special meeting of its general synod to vote on the basis of union of the two denominations.

The meeting is slated for April 20-21 in Cleveland.

Following approval by the general synod, the basis of union must then be referred to the 34 local synods of the church for a possible June vote.

Food Shortage Critical

(By Associated Press)

Food and fuel shortages became critical in some communities in the snow-locked western states today as weary rescue crews battled new wind and snow storms.

Human suffering mounted. Emergency measures were stepped up to rescue hundreds reported isolated—some for weeks.

Rail lines and highways over a four-state area were blocked by huge snow drifts, leaving thousands of persons stranded. Twenty-nine passenger trains, carrying some 6,000 travelers, were stalled.

Conditions in Wyoming were reported to be the most critical since the first blizzard struck the state Jan. 2. Eleven Union Pacific passenger trains were stalled in the state. Ten others were snowbound in Utah; five in Nebraska, and three in Idaho.

Fresh gales out of the gulf of Alaska roared out of the Pacific northwest last night, hitting north central Idaho and moving into northern Utah and Wyoming.

As the new storms swept into Idaho, several families were reported isolated without food and fuel at Rockland. Trucks stalled on snow-blocked highways were believed to be carrying at least $100,000 worth of perishable goods.

Two Ordered To Gallows

Five Get Life In Gandhi Murder

NEW DELHI — (AP) — Narayan Godse and Narayan Apten editor and publisher of a small Poona newspaper, today were sentenced to die on the gallows for the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Five of the eight defendants were given life sentences. The aged politician, V. D. Savarkar, who had been described by the prosecution as the brains of the plot against Gandhi's life, was acquitted.

D. R. Badge, a ninth man arrested in the plot, turned state's evidence and was released at the end of the proceedings.

Lewis' UMW Calls Taft 'Lucifer'

Fight Costs ITU Eleven Million

WASHINGTON — (INS) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union today attacked Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, as a "Lucifer of labor relations" who is filibustering against repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

The UMW accused Taft of making "a Roman holiday" of Senate Labor committee hearings on a new labor act through a "worthless flow of words," "political stump declarations," and cross-examination of witnesses.

The hearings have just been extended to Feb. 23.

Lewis joined the battle for repeal of Taft-Hartley after the AFL Printers union disclosed to Congress that it has spent more than eleven million dollars fighting the existing labor act.

Woodruff Randolph, president of the International Typographical union, told the Senate Labor committee:

"We decided, shortly after the Taft-Hartley act was passed, to go down fighting, if we had to, rather than submit to slow decay. The Taft-Hartley act makes free trade unionism impossible."

The ITU chief, whose union has assessed its 90,000 members heavily to support a 15-month strike against Chicago newspapers, said the printers organization cannot "survive indefinitely the pressures" of the existing statute. He urged its quick repeal.

Randolph made it clear that the union's chief target is the Taft-Hartley ban on the closed shop. He described the closed shop as the "very cornerstone" of the union's existence and a historical tradition with the ITU.

Banks, State Offices Close

The courthouse and city building will remain open Saturday, Lincoln's birthday, but the city's banks, the state liquor store and most state and federal offices will close.

The post office, however, will be open as usual.

On Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, all city, county, state and federal offices will be closed all day. Only office still in doubt is the post office Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said he would know in a few days whether his offices would remain open.

Value Placed at $100,000

Mrs. Black Leaves Estate to Family

Mrs. Frances Pearce Black, widow of one of the founders of the Ohio Brass company who died Feb. 3, left her estate to immediate members of her family, her will on file in probate court showed today.

Probable value of the estate was placed at $100,000, including $85,000 in personal property and $15,000 in real estate. The figure is expected to be increased considerably when the inventory is filed.

Mrs. Black was the widow of Harry S. Black who was a founder of Ohio Brass and president of the Farmers Savings and Trust company.

The estate was left to her six grandchildren and her daughter, and provides that before the distribution is made to the grandchildren a brother and sister receive a $1,000 yearly income each.

Named executrix was Mrs. George L. Draffan, Mrs. Black's daughter.

Mrs. Draffan asked the court to appoint Paul Eliot, William A. Springer and W. C. Mansfield as appraisers of the estate.

The will was dated July 25, 1939. It provides that under a trust set up on July 24, 1939, the real estate be used for the benefit of the grandchildren.

Balance of the estate, except for tangible personal property, such as jewelry, household goods and automobiles, is to go into a second fund.

Tangible personal property is to go to Mrs. Draffan. She will be the trustee of the two trust estates.

The will provides a $1,000 per year income for a sister, Miss Susan Renfrew Pearce and the same amount yearly for a brother, Frank M. Pearce, both of Kenton. That money is to come out of the net income of the second trust fund.

The trust estate will remain in effect until the death of the brother and sister, and then the trust estate will be divided among the six grandchildren. Spencer B., Marion E., James N., and Frances E. Draffan, Reid C. Black, all of Mansfield, and Mrs. Allen Hanson, of Lexinton, R. D.

130-Mile Conveyor System

Belt Linking Ohio River, Lake Erie Mills Planned

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Plans were announced today for a 130-mile system of conveyor belts to haul iron ore from the Great Lakes to the Ohio river steel mills. The belts would carry up to 20,000,000 tons of Ohio river coal a year on the return trip back to the lakes.

H. B. Stewart jr., president of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown railroad, announced formation of the new corporation, Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, incorporated.

The conveyor system, all elevated at least 22 feet, would cost $154,000,000 and would take 32,000,000 man hours, and at least three years to build.

Terminal facilities at Lorain, on Lake Erie, and at East Liverpool, on the Ohio river, are estimated at a cost of $56,000,000 more.

Stewart said the belt system of handling bulk cargo would save from $20,000,000 to $45,000,000 annually in freight rates on iron ore, limestone and coal consumed by steel mills in eastern Ohio and the Pittsburgh area.

Spur lines would serve Youngstown and Cleveland.

Private capital will finance the project, Stewart said, and there will be no public offering of stock.

Right-of-way for the elevated, enclosed belt system will be sought through the Ohio state government, Stewart said.

The electrically operated belts would be controlled by a push-button system with an electric eye warning device to locate trouble spots. Plans call for the entire system to be enclosed—for one reason to prevent pilferage.

President Still Wants Tax Boost

Brannan Seeks To Steady Markets

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today he is still as strong as ever for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase and for stand-by wage and price controls.

The President's call for more money was made at his news conference just after Secretary of the Treasury Snyder had told Congress it is "essential" that the increase be granted "as soon as possible."

At the White House the questioning on taxes revolved around a reporter's query whether the President is hopeful of getting the tax increase in view of recent developments in the commodity markets and on Capitol Hill.

The President said yes, he is. Then he added he is just as strong for the tax increase now as when he first called for it.

Then, asked whether a further downward trend in the market might lead him to alter his opinion, he said it would not.

Meanwhile, the government sped up its grain buying program today to bolster the jittery market.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan ordered buyers for the Commodity Credit corporation to stay in the grain pits for a longer period each day. They have confined their purchases recently to a two-hour period.

Government purchases bolstered the sagging grain market today, but prices fluctuated in another jittery trading session, according to United Press.

At the opening of the Chicago Board of Trade, prices rose as much as five cents a bushel but later lost some of the gain.

Held In Tractor, Cattle Rustling

DELAWARE —(INS)— A Franklin county farmer today was charged with cattle rustling in Pickaway county and tractor rustling in Delaware county.

Gordon Glendenning, 25, of Brice, was arrested by Delaware County Sheriff Earl Fravel and charged with grand larceny yesterday, while out on bond under the week-old cattle stealing charge.

Kids Indulge In Game of Sudden Death

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Cleveland school children have conceived a new and deadly game tabbed "sudden death," police reported today.

According to authorities, to beat the game, a child must dash from curb to curb across the path of an approaching automobile, emulating comic book characters of superhuman power.

Six-year-old Barbara Boofacher was the latest victim of the weird contest with death, police report. Barbara was struck and injured slightly when she darted into the path of an auto on Cleveland's west side.

GOP Leaders Meet Today

Ohio, National Chairmen Confer

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A new Ohio Republican boss—product of a party upheaval 12 hours earlier—prepared today to greet the national GOP chairman who survived a similar uprising a few days ago.

Ray Bliss of Akron, 41-year-old insurance man, is the new Buckeye boss of the Republicans. He succeeded Fred H. Johnson of Zanesville yesterday in a State Central committee squeeze play.

The visitor is Hugh D. Scott, who won the right to stay in power over the vigorous campaign of party discontents in a recent national committee meeting at Omaha.

In addition to a new Ohio party boss, Scott had awaiting him an open letter from William Schneider, chairman of the Franklin county Republican Executive committee.

Schneider called on "our party's big-wigs, including the members of the national committee, (to) take off their stuffed shirts, put on a pair of boxing gloves and go to work now."

Atom Machine Ready

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Case institute's new atom-smashing betatron is ready for its first assignment. The first study with the $75,000 device, third largest of its type in the world, will be concerned with the effects of radiation on living organisms.

Levels Blast at Hungary

U. S. Official Expelled

(Compiled From Wire Services)

WASHINGTON—President Truman today denounced Hungary's treatment of Josef Mindszenty as "infamous."

He described the treason trial of the cardinal as a kangaroo court proceeding which will go down in history as a blot against the nation which carries it on.

Mr. Truman went on to say that the matter of whether it was in violation of Hungary's treaties is being investigated and a report is to be made to him on that point.

The President discussed the trial at his news conference and gave reporters permission to quote directly his use of the word "infamous."

A reporter asked whether a break in relations with Hungary is under study. The President made it clear he didn't say that.

What is under investigation he said is whether Hungary's action was contrary to its obligations in treaties with other governments.

American officials see the whole affair as one which will bring a new clash between Russia and the western powers.

OFFICIAL OUSTED

Meanwhile in Budapest, an American vice-consul was expelled by Hungary's communist-controlled government today on charges of helping Hungarians flee the country.

U. S. Minister Selden Chapin announced that Robin E. Steussy, 27, of Madison, Wis., left this morning for Vienna.

Chapin — himself a target of the Budapest regime — declined to comment on the incident, saying merely that "every government has the right to request a foreign diplomat to leave."

Steussy, who was assigned to the legation in March, 1947, was given only 24 hours notice.

Following this, a Justice ministry official said today that Cardinal Mindszenty could be freed on "good behavior" after serving 15 years of his life sentence.

The official reported that Hungarian law contained provisions which might make it possible for the prelate to go free after 15 years. He now is 56, and in such a case would be 71 when he left prison.

U. S. to Keep Bombs Secret

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman bluntly served notice today that the United States has no intention of disclosing any of its atomic secrets to the world.

The chief executive bluntly told his news conference that it is nobody's business how many atomic bombs the United States possesses.

The President did not mention Russia in his comment on atomic secrets, but it was apparent that he was replying indirectly to Soviet demands in the United Nations.

Stripling Charges Ex-First Lady Aided Communists But—

Mrs. Roosevelt Denies Interceding for Alleged Red Agent

In a letter to the News-Journal Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has denied any recollection of asking anything for alleged communist agent Hanns Eisler, a charge made by Robert Stripling, former chief investigator for the House un-American activities committee.

Stripling has charged Mrs. Roosevelt with writing at least two letters seeking to have Eisler a brother of Gerhardt Eisler, admitted to the United States.

Stripling charged Mrs. Roosevelt with interceding on behalf of Eisler and later sending a note to Sumner Welles, under secretary of state, calling the Eisler case a 'hard nut to crack.'

Eisler eventually succeeded in obtaining entrance into America, and went to work in Hollywood for RKO. He was later called before the committee and has since been ordered deported.

Mrs. Roosevelt's letter was in answer to a telegram sent her by News-Journal telegraph editor Don Miller, Feb. 4, 1949, requesting that she answer Stripling's charges in order that the News-Journal might present both sides of the question. General comment on the spy probe was also invited.

Mrs. Roosevelt readily admitted knowing Joe Cadden, president of the American Youth Congress a Red youth group, and Joe Lash, one of the members. In her letter she asserted that young Lash had been ousted from the group by the communistic element but remained a member for some time.

Both Cadden and Lash were frequent visitors at the White House, according to Stripling, and both were investigated by the committee.

(According to Stripling, Mrs. Roosevelt called Martin Dies, former head of the spy probe, to a luncheon in order to state that Lash had seen the error of his ways and should be cleared before the committee.)

The former First Lady also denied having had Stripling

LASH AND MRS. FDR—Joe Lash, then head of the American Student Union, talks with Eleanor Roosevelt just before appearing before the House un-American activities committee.

(Editor's Note: This is the twelfth article by Stripling, who shows, for the first time, the inner workings of the House Committee which he served.)

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

In my long search through the visa division of the State department, while on the trail of Gerhart Eisler, employes there repeatedly suggested that I inquire into the passport escapades of Gerhart's brother, Hanns.

With Gerhart disposed of, so far as the House un-American activities committee was concerned, I subpenaed such records as the State department would give us, and looked into the matter of Hanns.

Hanns, a stout, stumpy, bald, bespectacled man like his brother, had lived with more ostentation than Gerhart, who, when finally subpenaed by the committee, was living in a modest little place in Sunnyside, Long Island.

Hanns Eisler had been respected and trusted enough in Moscow to be taken there from Germany to reorganize its International Music bureau. He had composed the music for a great number of marching and rallying songs endorsed by his communist colleagues.

When he arrived in the United States in 1935 The Daily Worker displayed a picture of him giving the communist salute, and hailed him as "This famous revolutionary composer."

By 1938 Hanns Eisler's ex-

Paul Dietzel Rejoins Gillman on Cincy Staff

Fourth Ex-Miami Man With Bearcats

The University of Cincinnati football coaching staff has a little more of that Miami seasoning today after the signing of Mansfielder Paul Dietzel to an assistant's post.

Dietzel, plebe line coach at West Point last year, is the fourth Miamian to land on the Bearcat staff. He rejoins Sid Gillman, who left his Army line coach position, to head the UC gridiron staff.

Gillman had previously signed George Blackburn, head coach, and Joe Madro, line coach, right off the Miami campus. Dietzel, Madro and Blackburn had all been assistant coaches to Gillman when the former Ohio State star headed the Miami staff prior to his Army appointment.

FOLLOWS SID

After two years of varsity ball at Miami, Dietzel was signed as an assistant Redskin coach He followed Gillman to West Point in 1948.

The big blonde was a defensive ace and termed by Gillman as "the best center I ever coached." Dietzel captained the Miami team in his junior year and was named the outstanding lineman in 1946

While at Miami he won all-Ohio honors and was placed on the AP's Little All-America squad. Paul had several high school head coaching offers before throwing in with Gillman.

IN THREE SPORTS

A three-sport letterman at Senior high seven years ago, Dietzel attended Duke for one year prior to the war. He was a B-29 pilot while in service.

Dietzel made all-Ohio honorable mention in football at Senior high, was a top scorer on the basketball team and district discus champion in track

Fading Cincy Falls Again; Northern Wins

(By Associated Press)

Cincinnati's fading Bear cat basketball team dropped a 42-36 decision to Lasalle University of Philadelphia last night in one of two intersectional games on Ohio's cage program

In the other, Ohio Northern won over Taylor University of Indianapolis, Ind, 95 to 76, at Ada.

It was Lasalle's 15th victory in 19 starts. Cincinnati now has lost five of 17 and all of those have come in the last nine encounters.

Ohio Northern's Polar Bears staged a second half uprising to down Taylor, which had led 42 to 41 at intermission. The score was tied at 42-all at the beginning of the third quarter, then the Ohioans found their shooting eye and pulled far into the lead.

8th IN LEAGUE

Ohio Wesleyan scored its eighth Ohio conference win by defeating Denison 69 to 42 at Granville. It was Denison's 10th loss in conference play against no victories. Wesleyan has lost two conference games. Wesley to win scoring honors.

Indians Sell Walt Judnich

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have announced the sale of Walt Judnich, outfielder and first baseman, to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Judnich, 32, batted 257 for the world champions last year, and saw considerable action in the world series. In Pittsburgh, a pirate spokesman said the deal was made for the waiver price of $10,000.

A veteran of six major league campaigns, five of them with the St. Louis Browns, Judnich had a reputation as a long-distance hitter and a smooth outfielder. He made the transfer to first base in 1947 while with the Browns. When transferred to Cleveland last year, he spent time at both positions

Baseball's Ready For Legal Fight

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK—(AP)—Organized baseball shook off its historical shyness toward legal action today and prepared to fight the latest attack against its contracts all the way to the supreme court.

The legal structure is challenged in a $300,000 damage suit by Danny Gardella, a pint-sized outfielder now banned from baseball because he jumped from the New York Giants to the Mexican league in 1946.

GO ALL THE WAY

A U. S. court of appeals ruled yesterday that the suit may be heard. Commissioner A. B. Chandler, one of the five defendants, said baseball attorneys are ready to go to the supreme court if necessary.

The next move is up to the defendants, who besides Chandler are the Giants, President Ford Frick of the National league, President Will Harridge of the American league and President George Trautman of the National association (minors).

They have 20 days to answer yesterday's ruling. The case had been dismissed last July 14 by Federal District Judge Henry W. Goddard. The court split 2-1 in reversing Judge Goddard.

Gardella, known more for his off-the-field antics such as hanging from a 12th-floor window by his fingertips than for his baseball prowess, is under a five-year suspension from organized ball.

In his suit he charged baseball with being a monopoly because of the reserve clause in every contract which binds a player to one club for life unless he is sold, traded or released. He also charged that baseball should be subject to anti-trust laws because of the large fees received by clubs for radio and television rights.

BAN COSTS $100,000

Gardella figures the ban will cost him $100,000. He asked triple damages under anti-trust provisions.

The appeal judges wrote three separate opinions. Only the one by Judge Jerome N. Frank touched directly upon the reserve clause.

He said it "results in something resembling peonage of the baseball player. . . . The violator may perhaps become a judge, with a less exciting and often less remunerative occupation, or a bartender or a street sweeper, but his chances of ever playing baseball again are exceedingly slim."

Chandler challenged the statement of the judge who called the status of baseball players "something resembling peonage."

"No major league baseball player receives less than $5,000 a year and some of them get close to $100,000," the commissioner told over 600 persons attending the annual banquet of the Interstate league sportswriters and broadcasters last night.

"If that's slavery or servitude then there's a lot of us would like to be in the same class," he declared.

This Stan Musial Turns Out To Be Just a Phoney

BILOXI, Miss., — (UP) — The skinny, athletic-looking fellow checked in at a resort hotel and modestly admitted he was Stan Musial, most valuable player in the national league.

Reporters rushed over to interview him.

He would hit .400 this season, he said. Sure, he'd be glad to speak at the veterans' hospital. He'd even wear his baseball suit. Look a little skinny? sure, 20 pounds underweight. But please don't tell the Cardinal front office about it.

The hotel got suspicious. It planted a detective in the next room after the reporters left. The detective heard a conversation between the man, two women and another man. That was enough.

COLUMBUS—High school happenings!

Of this spring's eight regional basketball tournaments, seven will be on college floors and the other in a high school gymnasium.

The Class A sites are Youngstown S. High, Kent State, Toledo and Xavier universities. The Class B events are booked at Kent State, Toledo and Ohio Universities and Wittenberg college.

Cleveland Class A teams, competing in the big free-for-all tournament race for the first time, will send regional representatives to Kent State.

A total of 701 officials registered for the basketball examination at the Ohio High School Athletic association offices this year, and 595 actually took it. The other 106 didn't show up, or took a look at the questions and decided to drop out. Of the 595 who took the test 171 failed—an average of about three out of 10. The football officials' test was just the opposite—an average of three out of 10 passed.

Commissioner H. W. Emswiler announced after today's state board meeting that effective in September all coaches must be full-time certified teachers. That means the coaches must teach at least three hours per day in addition to their athletic chores.

The board approved switching the state swimming meet from March 4-5 to March 11-12 because Ohio State Coach Mike Peppe, who annually supervises the event, will be out of town on the earlier dates.

'Mr. Hobbs' Tops Child Book List

'Rosa and Randy' Also Recommended

Among the new children's books at Mansfield public library is the humorous MR. HOBBS CAN FIX IT. It is the story of a repairman who is faced with the job of "fixing" a dog who chases autos.

CORKY'S PET PARADE by Maggie Fiedler is the story of a little boy and a pet show. Corky took his pet chicken to the show. You'll be surprised at what happened.

Those of you who read "STAR IN THE WILLOWS by Katherine Eyre know that she can write good horse stories. ROSA AND RANDY is another book by Miss Eyre and is even better than the first ones. You will like the part where Rosa tamed a bad horse and the part where they went after abalones and had to hide in a cave.

STARS IN OUR HEAVENS by Peter Lum is a book that answers a lot of questions that it's been hard to find anywhere else. It not only tells facts about the stars but includes most of the old myths and legends that have grown up around them. It includes pictures of the constallations and the signs of the zodiac.

ICELAND ROUNDABOUT by Agnes Rothery is full of information about a country little known to most of us. There are introductory chapters about the country itself and the people who first started to live there, then chapters on "Going to school", "Some strange and wonderful places" "Old stories" and "Pirates, a pastor and some poems."

HIGH HARVEST by Elizabeth Low is an interesting story for older girls. It is laid in present day Vermont and is about Zan, a farm girl, and her fight to save the land from being taken over by a government flood control project.

Just as good for boys as the last book is for girls is Alfred Powers' PRISONERS OF THE REDWOODS. This is tale of the goldrush days and concerns Ezra and Harry, two teen-agers who joined the goldrush intending to get rich. Their adventures were many—getting kidnapped by convicts, surrounded by Indians, being stranded on an island, and most heartbreaking of all burying their gold and coming back months later to find that a forest fire had wiped out the signs showing where their $40,000 was.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Ashland County Basketball Meet Opens With 3 Games

ASHLAND—Ashland county gets the honor of staging the first basketball tournament of the year in this area when it opens its joust tonight. Three games will be played on the Ashland college gym floor.

Perrysville and Hayesville meet in the tournament opener at 6:15 while Polk and Jeromesville battle in the second game and Savannah and Nova close out the first night program.

Perrysville won the county league championship but is at best only a co-favorite with Savannah which lost only once in 17 starts.

The Admirals inflicted Savannah's loss but later fell 51-41 to the same team in a non-loop game. Perrysville also lost to Bellville, Loudonville and twice to Lakeville in 20 starts.

Double eliminations will be played with losers of tonight's first two games clashing at 7:30 tomorrow and winners meeting at 8:45. Ruggles and Sullivan open the program at 6:15.

Other sessions are scheduled for Feb. 12, 15, 18 and 19.

Pro Football Peace Is Due

contacted yesterday by officials of both schools.

Edwards discussed the futures of Mansfield's Dave Templeton and Fredericktown's Ollie Cline with the Browns.

Of Templeton he said that the Browns had six veteran guards of last year and expected to carry only five. Edwards himself had signed what he considered a fine prospect in a guard from Texas in addition. So if Templeton is to make the squad he must beat out not only another fine rookie but two men who are already pro veterans.

He expressed the opinion Templeton might be traded.

Cline, he said, learned a lot of football last year and might become the eventual successor to big Marion Motley who has only a couple more good seasons left.

Williams Pay Will Be Tops

BOSTON —(AP)— Now that all of his co-magnates have played their highest salary cards, it can be taken for granted that Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey will trump them by giving Ted Williams around $100,000 for 1949.

From his usual winter fishing haunts in the Florida Everglades, Williams let it become known that he is about to sign up for "slight increase."

Ted boasts that he never has had any financial disputes with Yawkey and, since he collected about 80,000 last season, it seems safe to predict his new terms will be higher than the $90,000 Dan Topping granted Yankee Joe Dimaggio and the reported $75,000 Bill Veeck promised Cleveland hero Lou Boudreau.

Williams said yesterday he planned to retire from baseball after the 1951 season. To concentrate on fishing.

Cleveland Barons Go Into Puck Loop Lead

(By International News Service)

First place in the American hockey league's western division changed hands from the St. Louis flyers to the Cleveland Barons today for the second time in two weeks.

The flyers rested last night while the Barons "fought" their way to a 3-2 win over Hershey to gain the loop's top spot.

Browns Cagers Battle Myers

ASHLAND — The Cleveland Browns basketsball team will meet the Ashland Myers Pump quintet here Friday night at McDowell auditorium.

Garber's Printers will meet the Myers YMCA team in the preliminary at 7:15 p.m. Proceeds of the game will be used to complete an outdoor basketball court at Brookside park. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 60 cents for children.

Nine members of the Browns football team make up the basketball squad. They are : Edgar Jones, Mac Speedie, Otto Graham, Cliff Lewis, Lou Rymkus, Horace Gillom, Marion Motley, Lou Groza and Dante Lavelli.

Last year, the Browns defeated Myers, 59 to 50. The Pump team has won 20 of 23 games this year.

Conservation Chairman Opposes Autonomous Wildlife Group

Rupp Cites Unification Objections

Women, Sportsmen Approve Measure

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Allen Rupp, Conservation commission chairman, says he opposes an autonomous wildlife division in a proposed state department of natural resources.

The Cambridge school superintendent testified at the Senate Conservation commission's second hearing on a bill to unify Ohio conservation agencies.

"I don't see why our division should be put on a pedestal so the governor can't control appointments," he told the committee last night.

Rupp referred to plans for transplanting the state conservation divisionbodily into the proposed seven-division department. The present division would become the wildlife section of the new department.

But the present conservation commission, which Rupp heads, would retain authority to appoint the division head. The governor thus could not control the appointment as in the other divisions.

Rupp expressed belief the present commission would fight to retain the present proposal in the bill drafted by the postwar program commission.

Other witnesses endorsing unification included G. E. Condo of Dayton, president of the Ohio Division of the Isaac Walton league, and Mrs. Ray W. Davis of Circleville, legislative chairman of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs.

The House Finance committee recommended passage of a bill to put the state on a July 1 fiscal year instead of the present Jan. 1 calendar year. The proposal would eliminate the rush in each new legislative session to get out six-month partial appropriations to operate the state government.

Rep. Ray M. White (D-Holmes), a committee member, said Gov. Frank J. Lausche expressed approval of the change at a dinner last night for Chairmen of House committees at the mansion.

in cigarette packs, money changing hands between shadowy figures in dark theaters.

By comparison, the Army sizes up the wartime Soviet spy network in Canada as an "amateur show."

While serving the Moscow masters, Sorge cultivated the German ambassador in Tokyo and his staff so well they told him almost anything, asked his advice, and let him see secret papers. He had a camera handy.

Eventually, he joined the staff as press attache.

Sorge had come to Japan after getting a foreign correspondent's assignment from the Frankfurter Zeitung and three other papers.

He was tall, heavy, arrogant and ruthless, a hard drinker and a philanderer. He had one wife in Russia and another, a school teacher, in the United States.

Another top-notch member of the ring, Branko De Voukelitch, would be discussing the same problems with newspaper friends who had access to the American, French and British embassies and often had semi-official views from diplomatic contacts.

Seeks Extra School Aid

COLUMBUS — (INS)— An appropriation of $31,500,000 for new schools, school repairs and school buses was asked today in a bill placed in the Senate hopper by Sen. Albert Daniels (R—Greenfield).

He would allocate 20 millions for new schools in areas which already had issued all the bonds possible under the law; three millions for repairs, and eight and a half millions for schoo. buses.

Daniels claimed that one child in five in Ohio is now going to classes in a building more than 50 years old.

Daniels, veteran friend of the school lobby, said the bill was backed by the Ohio Education association. The OEA also is asking an increase of about 27½ millions in state aid to schools per year for operating purposes.

Commission Raps Job 'Favoritism'

Hoover Asks Rescue Of Civil Service

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Hoover commisison today asked Congress and President Truman to (1) outlaw political favoritism, (2) rescue the civil service from "red tape without end," and (3) reward officials who cut the federal payroll.

In a new report on government reorganization, the bi-partisan commission called for these reforms by the nation's biggest employer; it said they would bring "great savings:"

Shape a career service that will attract and hold "men and women of the highest intelligence" by opening new training and promotion opportunities.

Raise pay in the $5,000-and-up brackets and lift the $10,330 salary ceiling to a point closer to private industry levels

Require the removal of officers who show "political favoritism in making appointments"

Strip the civil service commission of its worker-recruiting and some other functions. Hand the hiring job over to the individual agencies under modernized procedures.

Fix a single pay policy for all agencies, instead of the four now existing. Let Congress set the wage ceiling and floor and let the civil service commission set individual scales.

Guest banks represented were the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, Farmers Savings and Trust company and Mansfield Savings Trust National bank. C. N Sutton executive vice president of the host bank, had charge of the meeting.

In addition to the talk by Clouse, a film entitled "Back of Every Promise" was shown in the lobby. This film portrays in dramatic action the part the correspondent banking system has in the movement of raw materials through factory to distributor and to the eventual user of the finished product, Sutton said.

Republicans Consider Party Ailments

WITH the approach of Lincoln's birthday anniversary there is a loosing of oratory on subjects associated with Lincoln's career, and also on partisan and non-partisan issues of the present time.

Such an address, with a plainly partisan theme, was delivered Tuesday night by Thomas E. Dewey, New York governor and twice the defeated Republican nominee for the presidency. The talk was given at an advance Lincoln Day dinner in Washington, under auspices of Republicans in Congress and the League of Republican Women.

As "titular leader" of the Republican party, Dewey recognized the "wide-open split" that turned the Republican-controlled 80th Congress to the present Democratic majority in House and Senate and resulted in the election of President Truman last November when all signs indicated the opposite result.

A great danger foreseen by Governor Dewey is that unless the Republican party is revitalized and restored to its "historic role," the country may slip unconsciously "into the abyss of one-party government," as has been the trend during the past 17 years.

Developments in federal government since inception of the so-called New Deal have been toward a form of paternalism which has tended to encourage dependence on centralized government for whatever is needed by individuals or groups. The result has been an already burdensome tax load, with expenditure of additional billions in prospect if the Truman program is followed through.

Whatever may be the attitude toward Governor Dewey, in his self-assumed role of youthful "elder statesman," some of his suggestions are well worth pondering by those who have shared in placing the Republican party in its present muddled state.

Traffic Regulations Require Study

DECISION by city council to defer action on a proposal to subject any of Mansfield's principal thoroughfares to a "one-way" restriction of motor traffic accords with good judgment, as there are many other opportunities for improvement of the local traffic situation, rather than that such inconvenience be imposed on the motoring public.

Proposed opening of East Fifth street through to the Ashland road will tend to relieve Fourth street of some of the east-west traffic load and it appears to be the intent of council to observe the effects of this improvement before considering application of "one-way" restrictions on any main thoroughfare.

All downtown alleys, and some additional narrow streets, should be designated as limited to "one-way" traffic, but the extent to which this regulation is violated does not encourage belief that much can be done along this line.

Limiting parking to one side of the more heavily traveled streets may also be considered as a possible solution of traffic congestion during the busy hours, but this involves the matter of need for additional parking space in the downtown area, on which much of the traffic problem hinges.

Beware of Those 1½-Cent Stamps

PLEASE REMEMBER that those 1½-cent stamps you were accustomed to put on unsealed envelopes in which you sent greeting cards, circulars, etc., do not pay the postage any more. Since the first of the year the charge has been two cents for this class of mail.

But you can still buy 1½-cent stamps—and this is confusing to those who have not taken note of the raise in the mail rate. An item yesterday told that many valentines may not reach the intended recipients, because the envelopes carry 1½-cent stamps, instead of the required 2-cent postage.

It would appear that when there was no longer need for the 1½-cent stamps the outstanding ones should have been called in and destroyed, but the Mansfield post office still has several hundred thousand of them on hand to be disposed of; also around 50,000 envelopes stamped for 1½-cent postage. To be made usable these envelopes will require addition of a ½-cent stamp, for third class mailing, or a 1½-cent stamp to bring them to the letter-mail rate.

It's all very complicated, but if you think it over carefully you may be able to understand.

Make Fire Prevention a Hobby

IS FIRE PREVENTION worth the effort? Don't answer that question offhand—give it some thought first.

Here, to aid your thinking, are a few headlines, taken from papers in various parts of the country. "Three Children Killed In Brooklyn Fire; Found Clasped In One Another's Arms." "Family of Seven Dies In Burning Home." "Fire Kills Farm Mother and Six of 10 Children." "Fire Kills Two Babies as Stove Overturns." "Woman Revives, Finds Four In Family Suffocated."

A list of such gruesome headlines could be extended indefinitely. In the course of an average year, fire kills over 10,000 people in this country. It permanently disfigures many more. It maims others for life, and its toll is especially great among young children.

When it comes to economic waste, fire makes appalling records. Direct money loss runs to $700,000,000 a year and more. And the indirect waste, which cannot be exactly figured, is estimated at two to three times that sum. No one can measure the human problems which arise when fire costs a man his home or his job.

It is Senator Neely of West Virginia who is quoted as having snapped, "You keep your mouth shut," to another senator during a recent committee meeting—thus evidencing that he never came under Boy Scout influence.

Viewing the National Scene

Peering Behind Curtain

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — There is more than meets the eye behind the current forensic and pyrotechnic display over a change in Senate rules to permit limitation of debate, a change agitated so strongly now in order to check filibustering by southerners so the civil-rights program can be brought forward with some chance of success.

More than the civil-rights program, as such, is involved. This battle has to do not only with the economic and political liberation of a large section of our country, the South, but, radiating from that, it concerns the future of the Democratic party as a progressive party on a national scale, and the vitality of political progressivism in the nation as a whole.

There are powerful interests which, for selfish reasons of their own, want none of those things.

That's why the battle thus far has been largely a sham battle and will continue to be a sham battle if those interests have their way, for they operate through both parties. An understanding of this is necessary for an understanding of the maneuvers you'll see from now on, on and off stage.

We now see Republicans whipping themselves into the lather of a crusade, which is very fine to watch even if they accomplished nothing whatever for civil rights during the two years they were in control of Congress.

They saw President Truman steal the issue away from them in the presidential campaign, despite the southern wing of his party, and the President's courageous stand won him support that was translated into votes. There is another election two years hence, of which Republicans already are thinking.

Looking at Background.

IN SPITE of the President's position, Democrats are muddling and straddling because of the sensitivity of a wing of their party which is still formidable in Congress, meaning the southern wing. The Senate Democratic leadership hesitates to offend this group.

But it is necessary to go behind the political shadow-boxing to find the real meaning of the civil-rights fight. Basic economic issues and interests are involved.

An investigation of the Dixiecrat movement in the South in the last campaign by this and other reporters revealed its backing by powerful economic interests, which was no surprise to anybody who knows anything about the South, its politics and its economics. Again, as before, the racial issue was exploited by these interests for their purposes.

Their object in the last election was to beat President Truman because of his espousal of economic and social reforms that affected the privileges they have so long enjoyed in the South, just as, in other years, the object was to beat Franklin D. Roosevelt for the same reason.

They want to preserve the status quo, including cheap labor and the bonds that go along with a low-wage economy.

Special interests, which have fattened on the feudalistic and paternalistic system in the South, have their own stake in the fight here, though you'll never see their hand openly.

Nor are these interests confined to the South. Some of them are interests located elsewhere which have investments in the South. They work through both political parties. They found the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition of the last several congresses very helpful, and encouraged it.

They would like to keep the southern conservative wing of the Democratic party very much alive, for it works in their behalf whichever party is in power.

Frankly Speaking

Dewey and 'Progress'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The word "progress" is one man's poison and another man's meat.

It's a word whose meaning depends upon what the person who uses it has in mind when he says it.

Which is another way of saying Brown's idea of progress may look like radicalism to Jones but like reaction to Smith.

In his Lincoln Day dinner speech Tuesday night Governor Thomas E. Dewey said the Republicans are a "liberal and progressive party."

He attacked the Democrats for going, he seems to think, too far, and he attacked some Republicans for not going, he seems to think, far enough.

So some Democrats and some Republicans will disagree with Dewey's idea of progress when he used the word.

To explain what he means, he said his party believes:

"Wholeheartedly in unemployment insurance, in old-age assistance on an increased basis, in broader social security generally, in slum clearance and public housing, in public development of our water resources, in farm price supports, in vigorous protection of the rights of labor."

These are all things President Truman seems to believe in, too, since he's asked his Democratic-controlled Congress to do something about them.

So up to that point Mr. Truman and Dewey seem to be seeing eye to eye.

Line of Disagreement.

BUT Mr. Truman has another point in his program which Dewey didn't mention as part of the Republican party's beliefs, and that is national health insurance.

In his speech Dewey didn't make it clear whether he's against the idea of national health insurance in some form.

But he lambasted the Democrats' idea of a health program. He said:

He's for the American people's security but "by that I do not mean supporting half-baked, badly-drawn laws or evil inventions like the Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill (this is the Democrats' bill) which would reduce our doctors to government servitude.

"I propose that, opposing every totalitarian device, we fight ever to enlarge the area of human freedom."

So at this point, since Dewey won't go along on his health bill, Mr. Truman may argue that the New York governor is a lot less progressive than Mr. Truman. And plenty of Democrats would agree with him.

Turning his attention to his fellow-Republicans, Dewey said some of them would like to wipe out farm price support, unemployment insurance, old age benefits, slum clearance and other such programs.

Such Republicans, the governor said, want to go back to the 19th century and he practically invited them to get out of the Republican party.

But those same Republicans may look upon him not as progressive at all but as radical for backing those programs.

So when you start using the word "progress" you sort of pays your money and takes your choice.

Dewey didn't add to the Democrats' domestic program any items he thinks are "progressive." But he did claim that if the Republicans were running things they'd do it better and cheaper.

This is pretty much what Dewey said in his campaign for election to the presidency last fall. Some people have wondered if Dewey, twice defeated for the presidency, might want to run again in 1952.

And they wondered whether he would say anything startling. He neither startled anyone nor gave any hint of his 1952 intentions.

As Cerf Tells It

A teacher asked, "If a number of sheep is called a flock, and a number of quail is called a bevy, what would a number of camels be called?" The nine-year-old youngster answered, "A carton."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I wonder what the guy who got my dinner is saying?!"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Acheson Is Irked By Bevin Criticism

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Three distinguished statesmen were on hand to greet the French Gratitude Train when it arrived in Washington—Vice President Barkley and his former colleagues, Senators Connally of Texas, Democrat, and Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican.

These three have served in the Senate together for more than a quarter of a century.

Sometimes they have been on opposite sides of bitter political battles, but they have never let party politics interfere with personal friendship.

They know each other as well as they know the Senate—which is better than almost anyone else in Washington. How much Senator Vandenberg knows about the early boyhood of Senator Connally of Texas is his secret.

But at the very conclusion of the ceremonies welcoming the Gratitude Train, as the venerable Tom Connally took a pair of shears and snipped the red, white and blue ribbon sealing the District of Columbia boxcar, his old friend, the senator from Michigan, whispered to the vice president of the United States:

"I'll bet that's not the first time Tom has broken into a box-car."

Acheson Wary of Bevin.

IT ISN'T being advertised outside the state department, but British Foreign Minister Bevin didn't put his best foot forward with the new U. S. secretary of state just a few days after Dean Acheson took office.

Bevin sent what amounted to a frantic SOS to Acheson for help to get him enough votes to squeak by an attempted censure of British foreign policy in the house of commons. But after Acheson helped to get him the votes, Bevin, in effect, bit the hand that fed him.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

Just before the debate on Palestine, Bevin was worried sick that the Labor party might be defeated and have to resign. Part of the criticism was because Britain's policy in Palestine was upsetting American relations.

Therefore, Bevin hit on the idea of telling parliament that Britain and the United States had settled their differences and now agreed completely on Palestine.

Bevin actually wrote out his remarks in advance and cabled them to the state department Jan. 25 to make sure Secretary Acheson had no objection. Bevin also appealed to Acheson to issue an American statement backing up Bevin on Palestine. The state department OK'd Bevin's remarks and gave him the go-ahead—and that statement was the trump card which helped him win a vote of confidence by a margin of only 90. Otherwise the Labor government might have been defeated.

However, Bevin extemporaneously inserted some other remarks in his speech, criticizing American policy. This made Acheson so irate he flatly refused to issue the subsequent statement on Palestine supporting Bevin.

As a matter of fact, Acheson also considered protesting to Bevin about his American criticism, but finally decided to forget the whole thing. He decided, however, that he would think twice before helping Bevin out of a jam again.

Grudge Fight Renewed.

ONE of the bitterest battles of the 80th Congress was over Director of Reclamation Mike Strauss and his California regional aide, Richard Boke. The battle finally ended by Congress taking the almost unprecedented action of barring them from the payroll.

Backstage, this battle is raging again inside the rules and appropriations committees of the 81st Congress, where a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans is ganging up to block Truman on reclamation. Real issue behind this battle is the 160-acre limitation on reclamation holdings in the Far West.

California's Senator Sheridan Downey, though a Democrat, led the grudge fight against Strauss and Boke. Brazenly he claimed they had administered the 160-acre limit too efficiently.

Now he is pulling wires behind the scenes to block them from getting back their jobs, and, to some extent, the fight has boiled down to one between Truman and Downey.

The other day, Truman sent a private memo to the House appropriations committee bluntly asserting that two reclamation officials were being "legislated out of office—by an arbitrary action diametrically opposed to the principles upon which this government was founded."

The President referred, of course, to the fact that the executive branch of the government has the power of appointment. Truman's memo, however, was blocked by Appropriations Committeeman John Tabor of New York, a Republican, and Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, a Democrat who operates inside the rules committee.

So far, Truman has lost the battle. The Feb. 1 deadline, at which time Strauss and Boke went off the payroll, has been reached and passed. The amendment Truman requested has been blocked.

If a coalition of Democrats and Republicans can defeat him so easily on the question of reclamation, it will be interesting to see what happens regarding civil rights.

Want To Marry Money?

By INEZ ROBB

PALM BEACH, Fla. — If any young man, standing with reluctant feet where work and college meet, wants a little free advice about his future life work, I am now giving out with it.

Go South, young man, go South. Don't waste time on Horace Greeley and the West. The mother lode is down here, and is she loaded! This place is crawling with widows, all as rich as the relict of the late Mr. Croesus.

Getting to be a millionaire is obviously very wearing work since so many of them go early to their reward, leaving behind a lonely widow with a bank full of folding money.

Any young man who would rather marry a million than kill himself to do it, can only regard Palm Beach as a land of golden (22-carat) opportunity.

After all, the good book adjures us to comfort widows—and there's a heap of comforting to be done here, For now, as always, there is a great dearth of "extra men" in Palm Beach. The women always far outnumber the men, especially eligible men.

The latter usually fall into two classes: Too young or too old—either in kindergarten or in senile decay.

Any half-way personable man with a change of linen, a pair of white pants, a dinner jacket and a working knowledge of the two-step can scarcely fail to meet his fate and her fortune here in a single season.

This is one of Palm Beach's eternal verities: It was true when I came here twenty years ago, when I left here ten years ago, and is going stronger than ever today.

I once knew a man who had to decide whether to buy a winter overcoat and work like a fool up North, or come South and marry one. He made the wise decision, came South, picked off a widow with wads of money and is now one of the social arbiters of Palm Beach.

Arthur Murray's dancing boys have always had a particular appeal for the lush and lonely widow. Apparently a man who is fast on his feet in the rhumba has a special appeal for widowed ladies with nothing but time and money on their hands. Six lessons from Mme. Lazonga and the lad winds up married and on the gravy train for life.

Even the scenery and the weather work in behalf of an ambitious man with his eye on the main chance. Palm Beach is as beautiful as romance itself. The days are full of warmth and sun. And the nights are soft and brilliant with a million stars. Any lady and her lucre look good in this setting.

Note the Qualifications.

THE questing gent ought to be able to dance, drive a car, play a good game of bridge, know the rudiments of backgammon and have a fund of small talk.

Of course, if the lad is really good at bridge and backgammon, he may be able to support himself here indefinitely without recourse to matrimony. Men have lived high, wide and handsome in Palm Beach for years with no other visible means of support than a deck of cards and a backgammon board.

But the man who is looking for real social security should not overlook the rich widow. Men with courage and vision have come here as shoe salesmen, as hosts in cocktail lounges, as brokers' clerks, dance instructors, and real estate salesmen and wound up as the legal consorts of some of America's queens of finance.

The real pitch is to go about any task, no matter how menial, with an air of quiet and noble resignation, as if one had seen better days. If one can look like a brave fellow, making a new start in life, determined to mend the family fortunes, it gives the whole picture an aura of princely suffering.

Before long, the rumor spreads that the charming boy is really a Romanoff in disguise, or something equally Hollywoodian. The lonely ladies love it. They, too, have suffered.

If he plays his cards well, our hero in no time will be fighting for his honor in a half-dozen patios owned by an equal number of widows in the chips.

So pretty soon he gets tired of struggling. He gives up and makes an honest man of himself. He marries the money—I mean, the widow. And settles down to a long life of concentrated leisure.

And suppose all play and no work does make Jack a dull jerk?

Who paged Einstein?

Too Much Comfort

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ONE of the worst things that can happen to human beings is too much comfort.

Take folks with a nice little house, for instance, or a snazzy little car. Before they got that car they went around like other bipeds on their own good legs or hopped on a street car or rode the brakes and got there somehow.

They were right down on the level with everyone else, sharing the callouses and blisters of the common lot and teeming with the kindliness and humor that come with bumping against your neighbor.

An then—they got The Car. And at once they began to change.

Ride on streetcars, walk and carry their own packages? Impossible! You'd think their legs ended in automobile tires. If you tried to reason with them they would produce the most amazing alibis to prove to you that it was far cheaper to get out the seven passenger car to go three blocks after a pork chop than to walk those three blocks with shoe leather at its present price.

Or if they're above the consideration of pork chops, they'll assure you that their doctor has ordered them positively to ride under all conditions or be threatened with coagulation of the left ear lobe.

And with every word they utter and every pint of gasoline they consume, they become more and more convinced that their arguments are true and that folks who go after pork chops or scenery in cars are a little bit finer and more advanced than street car shoppers or plain plodders—a little more worthy of padded seats through life.

First it gets in your joints, then it gets your heart and brain. And after it gets your brain and heart you might as well check yourself in the baggage room and lose the tag.

Dave Boone Says:

THE APPEAL of Cardinal Spellman to all Americans, regardless of creed or sect, to awake to the threat of the Cardinal Mindszenty trial in Hungary, and his warning that, if we fail to do so, we shall ourselves ultimately face communistic conquest and annihilation should be read by everybody.

* * *

The Hungarian cardinal was tried in the typical communist pattern with the usual "confessions." No one who saw and met him in America two years ago could see the pictures of him before the communist court without knowing he had been drugged and tortured.

* * *

"When will the American government, the American public, the leaders in all phases of life, religious, educational, political, labor, industrial and, yes, entertainment raise their voices as one and cry out against these communistic crimes?" asked Cardinal Spellman.

Timely Editorial

Profit By Experience.

British doctors report that, under the much controverted socialized medicine program now in effect, one person out of every five who visits their offices is a government official with forms to fill out or a paper-work snarl of some sort to untangle.

And this atop a record-breaking flood of patients that reduces each sufferer's time allotment to less than five minutes.

Bureaucracy is the same the world over. There is no reason to believe that state medicine would be any more efficient in this country than in England.—Columbus Dispatch.

Simple Solution.

Need Is Understood.

A report from Washington says senators and government housing experts are agreed that what the country needs is "a good $6,000 home." By this they mean of course one that costs under $15,000.—Ohio State Journal.

The speaker asserted the co-operatives operate solely for the benefit of their customers and exert a tremendous stabilizing influence in the U. S. economy of today.

Eldon E. Zercher, general manager of the local co-op, reported the co operative's sales volume last year totaled $395 687 Capital stock was listed at $181 620, while the present value of the co-operative was reported as $235.212

State Game Protector Applies for Niebel Slayer Reward

3rd Bid Filed With Commission

Board to Seek Meeting With Lutz

A third notarized application for the $5,000 reward offered by the county commissioners for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of three members of the John E. Niebel family, has been received by the county commissions.

Commissioners said they would consider only notarized applications.

This application was received from Frank A. Friemoth, state game protector, of Van Wert. Friemoth said he was present when Daniels was captured and was one of the men shot in making the capture.

Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the county commissioners, said the commissioners would ask for a meeting with Prosecutor Harold Lutz to decide on paying the reward.

Asked when the meeting would be held, Stewart said it would have to be after criminal cases pending in common pleas court are processed since Lutz is busy with them at the present time.

The reward was offered on July 22, the day after the Niebel murders.

L. H. Snyder, of 532 South Main street, and James A. Hildreth, of Columbus, are the others who have made formal application for the reward.

Robert Murl Daniels, a former Mansfield reformatory inmate, was executed Jan. 3 in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair for slaying Niebel, his wife, Nolana, and their daughter, Phyllis.

Sharp Decline In Cost of Food Items Shown By Survey

(By Associated Press)

Sharp declines in the wholesale prices of several major commodities highlighted the food news this week.

But it takes several weeks—months in some cases—for such downtrends to show up in lower prices in grocery stores. And occasionally the commodity markets recover so quickly price breaks are scarcely reflected at the retail level at all.

Lower corn prices, for example, are a long time bringing down the price of steaks and pork chops from cornfed animals. Cheaper corn usually means a step-up in poultry and egg production also, but the falling prices resulting from this increased supply will lag months behind the grain decline.

Just a year ago, the commodity markets broke even more sharply than they did this week—yet food prices continued their climb, after a brief pause, to reach their peaks last summer.

Nevertheless, the wholesale price skidding this week was impressive following the fairly steady declines in such items as grains and livestock since last fall.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index this week—with not a single food item advancing in price-eased 22 cents.

The widest weekly margin since the market break a year ago, at $5.66, the index was 23.1 per cent lower than the mid-July peak and the lowest since the end of the last price controls on food in early October, 1946. The figure was down 17.1 per cent from a year ago. The index represents the wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Prolonged severe weather in western states forced many producers to send more livestock to market than they would ordinarily.

Hadassah Members Hear Talk By Mrs. Goodman Wednesday

MANSFIELD CHAPTER of Hadassah held its regular monthly meeting at Temple Emanuel on Cook road, Wednesday afternoon The meeting was in the form of a luncheon with Mrs. Morris Browarsky, Mrs Joseph Ellison and Mrs John Levinson as the hostesses

Included in the business of the meeting was the acceptance of the resignation of Mrs John Levinson as secretary, due to the fact that the Levinson family is moving to Los Angeles.

The main feature of the program was given by Mrs Ben Goodman, a comparative newcomer to Mansfield who gave a very interesting and descriptive talk about her experiences at Camp Brandeis about four years ago. This camp is located in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, and is one of three such projects where young people gather under the leadership and training of very learned men and women from all over the world, to be taught the fine points of youth leadership The camp was organized by the late Judge Brandeis of the Supreme Court of the United States and is under the active leadership of Dr. Shlomo Bardeen

Mrs. Goodman illustrated her talk by singing some of the songs taught at the camp. She also had been cast as the lead in a ballet performance that the camp presented, and which was witnessed by some of the best ballet talent in the east.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, February 11.

UNDER adverse and unprofitable astral auspices, it is advised that all possessions of real or personal significance be rigidly preserved against loss, collusion, extravagance or any form of spend-thrift or diffusive inclinations. Squandering, excesses and indulgence may have regrettable, unprofitable and profound reactions on pleasant and productive pursuits of well-ordered living. Any show of the gambling spirit, prodigal and improvident, could forfeit prestige, popularity, private, professional and financial. Shun bombast, show, false pretenses.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is, may have a year in which it is urgent that the most discreet, rational, and correct modes of conduct of their affairs be rigidly adhered to. In all contacts and situations there may be hazard of loss of funds, property, reputation and standing, in which public prestige and personal popularity could be undetermined. Extravagance, waste, immoderation or excesses in any direction would be hazardous. Shun gambles, dubious speculation or investment and be not carried away by show, bombast, extravagance or exaggeration. Misplaced confidence, dishonesty, reckless use of funds or energies, could have disastrous reactions on health, fortunes, position, career.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Dear Mr Miller

In answer to your wire, it is a well known fact that Joseph Cadden was president of the American Youth Congress so of course, I knew him Joseph Lash was one of the members. He had been instrumental in organizing the Student's Union and had been thrown out by the communistic element but was still a member of the American Youth Congress for some time

I have no recollection of ever having asked anything for Hans Eisler. My policy was to forward anything which came to me to the department concerned with it expecting that the department would use its own information and knowledge, since I had no authority to investigate anything This was done with all requests as routine.

As far as Mr Stribling(sic) is concerned I should like to say that until a few months ago I never heard of him, so I could not have been instrumental in anything that happened to him I never asked that anyone either be taken in to the army or put out of it, since I always followed the same policy of simply referring requests that came to me.

Very sincerely yours,
Eleanor Roosevelt

P S Mr Stribling probably thought I knew his name when I saw him in the Committee, when as a matter of fact I had no more idea who he was than the man in the moon!

Appeal Rejected

LIMA —(AP)— The United States Supreme court yesterday declined to review the conviction of Lester Nichols, 43, under sentence to die for slaying the Rev Lewis Whitaker, his father-in-law.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

February 7, 1939

MEMORANDUM FOR HON. SUMNER WELLES:

See Mrs. Roosevelt's note:

"Dear Sumner - This Eisler case seems a hard nut to crack. What do you suggest?

Sincerely,

F.D.R.

NOTE TO WELLES—The above is a facsimile of the note alleged to have been sent to Sumner Welles by Eleanor Roosevelt, in behalf of Hanns Eisler, brother of Gerhardt Eisler and an alleged communist cuses for remaining in this country were wearing thin. He and his wife decided to go to Havana and there make application for a visa that would entitle them to permanent residence in the U. S.

Noted Americans Rally to Aid of Alleged Red Agent

But Hanns wanted to be certain He first had an attorney file the application and when the American consulate in Havana noted that the State department had a considerable "file" on Eisler, the composer began rounding up considerable support

'Dear Summer," wrote Mrs Roosevelt to Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles on January 11, 1939, and enclosing a dossier on Eisler, all these papers were brought to me yesterday by a friend of Mr Eisler The man who brought them is a perfectly honest person and very much distrubed. "He is sure they believe our form of government is heaven and would be entirely agreeable without reservation to take an oath of allegiance

"I believe that it is said that the Labor department did not examine the case carefully enough Why not do it all over again and bring it out in the open and let the Eislers defend themselves

"Cordially,
ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WRITES AGAIN

On February 7 1939 Mrs Roosevelt again wrote to the State department

"Dear Sumner This Eisler case seems a hard nut to crack What do you suggest?" Mrs Roosevelt enclosed a letter from Don Stephens of the National Arts club of New York, pleading Eisler's case

Welles replied that there were no prejudices against Eisler If he could conform to well-established State department rules, there would be no trouble, etc He ended by suggesting that Prof Alvin Johnson, of the New School of Social Research interest himself in supporting Eisler

Johnson eventually wrote Eisler:

"I understand that your visa is being held up because you have been boosted by 'The Daily Worker' as a 'Comrade,' that is, as a communist. I personally have no prejudice against communists and can see no earthly reason why a good communist should not be a good musician."

The Eislers by now had long overstayed their visitor's permits Among those who asked the State department to prolong their stay were Raymond Gram Swing, Dorothy Thompson, Russell Davenport of Fortune magazine, George Cukor, Clifford Odets and William Dieterle of Hollywood Curt Riess, Oscar Wagner Dean of the Juilliard Graduate school and Harold Clurman, director of the Group Theater Swing wrote

"The people I know in New York are greatly upset and offended by the failure of the eminent composer Mr Hanns Eisler and his wife to obtain an extension of their visitor's visas"

GET NEW PERMITS

On September 7 1939, at Mexico City, the Eislers were granted additional visitor's permits, valid for two months They returned to the U S and ignored the termination of their permits On July 17, 1940, a warrant was issued for their arrest and deportation At first they hid out in fashionable reaches of Bucks County, Pa Later they fled to Calexico, and there applied for visas which would entitle them to permanent residence in this country

The immigration inspector at Calexico said no

The Board of Special Inquiry said no

The State department files still contained all their unsavory evidence

But the Immigration Board of Appeals in Washington said yes Hanns Eisler, as much of a communist agent as his brother Gerhart, was granted permission to enter the United States with his wife and apply for citizenship

It was not until last year that the Department of Justice, acting on the evidence the committee produced long before, issued orders to deport Hanns Eisler and his wife.

They were permitted to leave the U S voluntarily, on the promise that they would never return

Yet throughout the entire case and to this day, the committee found itself accused of dealing exclusively in smears

2 Transfers Sought

Madison township trustees have filed a petition in common pleas court asking for permission to transfer $25,000 from the township's general fund to the road and bridge fund.

The transfer is required, according to the petition, to carry out the road maintenance program. The petition states that as of Jan. 1, there was $2,294 in the road and bridge fund and $46,030 in the general fund

C. M. Chatlain, one of the three trustees, said the money is needed to buy new equipment —a truck and a roller—and to carry out the road program this spring and summer.

Trustees of Springfield township asked the court for authority to transfer $2,000 from the general fund to the road and bridge fund for road maintenance. As of Dec. 18, the general fund had $3,409 and the applications had the approval of the State Department of Taxation.

Scott Appointed to Common Pleas Bench

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Lausche has appointed his long-time friend and political advisor, Roy W. Scott, as common pleas judge in Cuyahoga county.

The Cleveland lawyer succeeds the late Bert W. Griffin Scott will serve until his successor is elected at the next general election.

Reds Still Back Slavs

LONDON — (AP) — Russia renewed support of Yugoslavia's territorial claims on Austria today, American sources reported, despite her quarrel with Yugoslav Premier-Marshal Tito.

Russia restated her view soon after the big four foreign ministers' deputies convened for a third big try at writing the long-delayed Austrian peace treaty.

The conference had been hailed by western diplomats as a place for Russia to match her recent peace talk with hard action in settling Europe's problems.

East-west differences on Yugoslavia's claims for 800 square miles of southern Austria have been the principal stumbling bloc in nearly three years of negotiating for an Austrian treaty.

America's Post-War Hurricane of Inflation, Gradually Slowing Down

NEW YORK—(AP)—Big changes often start in small ways.

The ordinary man doesn't notice them at first. But gradually he begins unconsciously to add them up. And all at once there flashes into his mind the conviction: "Something's in the wind."

And there does seem to be something new in the financial wind. The American post-war hurricane of inflation is slowing down on many fronts. And already fears are rising that the national economy will be caught in the doldrums.

Yes, the signs come in small ways. . . .

A week ago a paper cup of carry-out coffee at the drug-store downstairs cost fifteen cents. This week it dropped to twelve cents. The price of a dish of cereal fell from twenty cents to fifteen.

A few days ago I went to a semi-annual shirt sale at one of Manhattan's men stores. Crowds of men pawed through the shirt stacks in the way only women are supposed to shop for bargains.

A five-cent cigar went on sale here and was front page news.

Columbia university noted a decline in the employment of woman graduates.

A prominent realty broker, looking ahead to a time when the housing shortage would be over, asked for a federal law putting a floor on rentals to protect landlords.

These are only a few of many straws showing a shift in the wind.

Recently I stopped with a friend to get a tankful of gasoline at a filling station in North Carolina. The attendant -not only washed the windshield and checked the tires.

"You got a lot of dirt on the floor board," he said. And he whipped out a whisk broom and rustled out the dust. Then he got some distilled water and filled up the battery.

Little courtesy massages like this should make the average customer feel good again after his years of casual abuse. But instead they seem to disturb him somewhat.

He can read in his newspaper and see that, according to official statistics, the dollar is worth only a penny more than it was at the peak of inflation. That's all the price cuts really amount to up till now. And a penny doesn't make much difference in itself.

The people here who save a nickel on their morning cereal ought to feel cheered. They've been complaining about the 20-cent price long enough. But somehow it makes them uneasy.

"What's behind it?" they ask.

They like prices to go down. Every consumer does. But they have an unspoken fear that if prices go down—jobs will go down, too. And nobody wants that.

At heart the American fear is of depression rather than of inflation. This country has had some terrible depressions. It hasn't known, since revolutionary war days, the ravages of rampant inflation on a nation-wide scale—inflation, that is, such as has swept Europe and China.

Americans like to expand, hate to contract. They trust growth, fear decline. Few believe the country will ever toboggan again to the economic depths of the early 1930s. But they distrust a down-slide of any kind, because nobody can always be sure of his brakes.

Who's afraid of a "return to normalcy." Practically everybody.

Walter Winchell

Current Price Drop No Mirage, Last September's Prices Show

THE PRICE DROP is not a mirage. You can tell how food fees have come down by comparing them with September's prices. During that month (in NYC) sirloin steak was $1 a pound; eggs 90 cents a dozen, and butter 89 cents a pound. . . . Today sirloin steak is 79 cents, eggs 73 cents and butter 74 cents.

Catholic Sister Dies

Word has been received by relatives here of the death Wednesday afternoon of Sister M. Blanche, who served as Superior and principal of St. Peter's Catholic schools here from 1895 to 1901.

Sister Blanche, who would have been 88 years old in March, died at the convent of Sisters of St. Francis of Mary Immaculate in Joliet, Ill., and services will be conducted Friday at 8:15 a. m. with burial in Joliet.

Born in Navarre March 24, 1861, the daughter of Joseph and Helena Orientie Allonas, Sister Blanche entered the convent on July 2, 1878, and last July was honored in special ceremonies at Our Lady of Mercy School in Granville, O., commemorating her 70th anniversary as a Catholic Sister.

Surviving are a brother, Charles Allonas of Dunkirk; a sister, Mrs. Anna Ross of Cleveland, and a number of nieces, nephews and cousins.

County Puts Load Limit On Trucks

Warm Weather Hits Rural Highways

That unseasonably warm weather of recent days today brought a county order limiting total weight of vehicles using Richland county highways.

A reduction of 50 per cent in the vehicle and axle loads was ordered by the county commissioners, effective today.

The order, which came earlier this year, is designed to protect county roads which are showing effects of warm, wet winter, commissioners said.

Many roads are starting to break up as a result of repeated freezing and thawing without the protection of a snow blanket.

The weight limits will remain in effect during the thawing and freezing period, lasting through the spring. The resolution said that compliance with order shall be enforced by county law enforcement officers.

The new maximum weights, under the 50 per cent load reduction, are 6,750 pounds per axle for vehicles with pneumatic tires and 6,000 pounds per axle for vehicles with solid tires.

The weatherman predicted more freezing temperatures tonight and tomorrow with snow squalls probable in northern Ohio late today.

Friday will be clear and slightly warmer, the forecast said.

'I'm An Old Farm Boy'

Screen Star Mitchum Starts His New Role

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Movie idol Robert Mitchum, who hasn't pushed a mop since he started making $3,250 a week, was routed out of his jail cell before dawn today to scrub floors.

That's how he began his first full day of a 60-day sentence for conspiracy to possess marijuana. Upstairs, in the women's section, blond starlet Lila Leeds started the same sentence. She said she would spend the 60 days writing a book.

Chief jailer Charles A. Fitzgerald said the handsome heman was a quiet, well-mannered prisoner.

"Mitchum's the type that makes a good institutional inmate," he said.

Mitchum accepted the prison routine with a resignation that was an about-face from his swaggering nonchalance after police arrested him last Sept. 1 at a "reefer party."

He said he wasn't "happy" about his jail sentence, but admitted it was "fair."

"I've already been tried by public opinion. Maybe this will help people forgive me." he said.

CHANGE OF CLOTHES

He tackled his prison chores in ill-fitting dungaree pants and jumper and a blue denim shirt.

"They dunked my other clothes," he shrugged.

Fitzgerald said it was customary with narcotics prisoners to dip all their washable articles in a special solution.

"Sometimes they hide marijuana in their clothes," he explained. "Then later they chew on the cloth."

Mitchum said he was hoping to serve out his term—which can be shortened to 50 days for good behavior—on the honor farm.

"I'm an old farm boy, myself," he declared. "And it'd serve a double purpose. I'd be putting the time to some use and getting myself in shape at the same time."

MADE AN IMPRESSION

The New Deal philosophy is being reflected in the essays written by Mansfield and Richland county youngsters in a contest sponsored by McVey post, American Legion. That's what contest judges decided last night as they checked more than 700 papers submitted by high school students in Mansfield, Madison, and Union high schools. In nearly every one of the essays, written on the topic: "The American Way—What Is It?", the students listed the Fourth Freedom as freedom from fear. The fear freedom is really the "fifth freedom" born during the Roosevelt administration. The correct Fourth Freedom is freedom of assembly and petition. Judges, who worked until midnight on the stacks of essays to prize-winning material, will wind up their job next Tuesday evening at the Legion home. The contest is open to all ninth, 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students at Senior high, St. Peter's Parochial, Union Rural, and Madison high school.

Council Hears Part of Bill

The first part of a new Mansfield traffic code which will penalize pedestrians who violate the law, set up four one-way streets, and restrict parking to one side of three major thoroughfares was read last night by city council.

Because of the length of the ordinance—96 typewritten pages—council adjourned until Monday when the rest of it will be read.

Although the section of the code pertaining to one-way streets was not read, the council traffic committee revealed that four streets would be included in the bill.

They are Main street, north from Olive street to South Park street; Diamond street, from South Park street to Olive street with Olive street as the connecting link.

Fifth street, west from Ashland road to Penn avenue, and West Fourth street, from Penn avenue to Ashland road, with Penn avenue as the connecting link.

The committee said, however, that putting the program into effect "will have to be postponed until the necessary land is acquired and street improvements made."

It was pointed out that necessary land to extend East Fifth street from Snyder street to the Ashland road still had to be acquired from the Mansfield Telephone company. (Condemnation proceedings have been filed in Common Pleas Court.)

"Council is going to make every effort to make the necessary improvements (on East Fifth street) after the land is acquired to get the one-way traffic system into effect as soon as possible," a committee member explained.

Under the measure, pedestrians must obey traffic laws pertaining to them under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

However, Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals has said that he cannot enforce that regulation until he has more men assigned to the traffic patrol.

REDISTRICT PARKING

The bill, as read, also set up parking restrictions on Mansfield streets. Major changes included the restriction of parking on one side of the following streets between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.:

Wood street, from Marion avenue to Glessner avenue; Walnut street, from West Second to West Fifth streets and Marion avenue, from Park avenue west to the city limits.

The bill also sets rules and regulations covering the operation and licensing of bicycles. The only change made in the present ordinance would require annual renewal of license for 25 cents. Under the present law renewal of the license is not necessary.

"The traffic committee does not feel that the new traffic code is a complete and final solution to the Mansfield traffic problem and changes can and will be made as they become necessary." a traffic committee member said.

TRIAL PLAN OK'D

"The traffic commissioner will be granted the power to make certain temporary traffic changes for a period of one year. If they are found desirable, they will become part of the law, otherwise they will be dropped. This provision is designed to give us flexibility."

The committee pointed out that the recodification will enable the city to prosecute traffic law violators under a city ordinance rather than under state law.

"It has been estimated that this will increase city income by approximately $10,000 a year," the committee said.

The traffic ordinance has been in preparation for nearly a year. City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch, along with Attorney Robert Ross, hired to assist him, drew up the ordinance after contacting cities all over the nation to see how they had handled the problem.

Terms Death Suicide

Coroner Rules In Poisoning Case

Mrs. Louise Ewald Wheitner, 51, widow of W. C. Wheitner, died enroute to General hospital last night after swallowing poison, according to sheriff's deputies.

Coroner D. C. Lavender termed Mrs. Wheitner's death a suicide. Deputies were notified at 9:40 p.m. after the Wolford ambulance was rushed to the home of Mrs. Wheitner's son, Richard E. Wheitner, 510 Acker drive.

Born May 15, 1898 in Mansfield, Mrs. Wheitner spent her entire life in the community. It was believed the victim had been deeply grieved since the death of her husband in December, 1946.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Linda Ewald; three sons, Richard, with whom she made her home, and Merle E., both of Mansfield; and Clayton K. of Crestline; two grandchildren; one brother, Henry Ewald of Mansfield; and two sisters, Mrs. Rosa Mowery and Mrs. John Hart, also of Mansfield.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Wolford funeral home. Rev. W. L. Marguard of Crestline will officiate and burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Friday.

Farm Sale Draws 1,500

Livestock, grain and equipment on the G. L. Rogers farms in Mifflin township were sold at public auction yesterday for more than $30,000, Rogers said today.

A deal for the sale of the 324 acres, comprising the two farms, was being completed today Rogers said, through Earl Wright of Mt. Gilead, auctioneer for the sale.

The farms contained two modern farmhouses on the Park avenue east road. Yesterday there were between 1,500 and 2,000 persons at the farm during the auction. Cars were lined up for a half mile on each side of the road near the farms and in adjoining fields.

Dinner was served by the women of the Mt. Zion Lutheran church. Funds will be used by the church members for a new building. The former church burned in December, 1947.

March 11 Zanesville Concert Scheduled By Mastersingers

Officials of the Mastersingers announced today the chorus will go to Zanesville March 11 for a double concert in the city auditorium.

The concert will be sponsored by the Favi Shrine club of Zanesville, headed by Edgar M. Bland, and will be one of a series of winter concerts which the Shrine has presented to Zanesville residents.

Guest artist for the concert will be Robert Marshall, who has sung here with the Mastersingers on three different occasions, the last in August, when the Chamber of Commerce sponsored a benefit concert. He also was guest artist for the Mastersingers when they appeared in Chautauqua last summer.

The Mastersingers will sing twice during the evening, the first time at 7:30 p. m. and again at 9:30 p. m. They will leave Mansfield at 2:30 p. m. and be guests of the Shrine at dinner.

The program for that evening will approximate that given at the January concert here, with three exceptions. Mastersingers will open their concert with the famous choral number, "Adoramus Te Christe" by Palestrina, followed by the "Battle Hymn."

For the production numbers with Marshall, they will present "You'll Never Walk Alone," from Carousel, and Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

The chorus, Dr. F. A. Hoffman, concert chairman, said today, would be comprised of 62 members. Rehearsals have been continuing each Monday night in preparation both for the March and June prorgams.

Small Leaves $54,788

The estate of Clarence H Small, who died Nov. 24, was appraised at $54,788, an inventory filed in probate court showed today. Small was vice president and treasurer of the Simon Small and Sons Construction company.

The estate included $32,400 in stocks and securities, $21,387 in bank accounts, and $1,000 in personal goods. The will left the estate to his widow, Mrs. Edith Small.

The will of Mrs. Minnie A Laser, a resident of Shelby, who died Jan. 25, provided for $50 to go to the English Lutheran church of Shelby. The will was admitted to probate today.

Balance of the estate, which was appraised at $8,659, according to the inventory, was left to her sons, Roy E. and Jerry R. Laser. They were named executors of the estate.

Study Gas Question

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Applications for additional gas space heating installations will be received through Feb. 21, the Ohio Fuel Gas company announced yesterday. Backs Toll Turnpikes

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Lausche's highway director, Theodore Kauer, yesterday advocated construction of toll turnpikes by private industry to relieve highway congestion in Ohio.

Appearing before the Senate Highway committee which is considering such a bill, Kauer said "The idea of a tollgate is distasteful to me" but added:

"We are unable to keep pace with the motor traffic of the state. I believe motorists are entitled to the best possible highway facilities available.

"It is not apparent that the present method of taxation in the state can give such facilities at an early date to the people who need them now. For that reason, I believe the construction of a turnpike would be of great assistance."

McGrew to Speak at Meeting Of Two Rural Loan Groups

County Agent C. N. McGrew will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Farmer's Production Credit association and the Homeland National Farm Loan association Saturday at Ontario high school. His subject will be the "Farm Outlook."

The meeting, which begins at 10:30 a. m., is open to stockholders of the two groups, their wives and others who might be interested. A free lunch will be served at noon.

Horace Uhl, Production Credit association representative here, said a panel discussion on the stock and capital structure of the association will be held.

"Production Credit during 1948 experienced the best year in the fifteen years of its operation," Uhl said. He said over four million dollars was loaned and that the Mansfield office was second among the eight offices in an 11-county district in the amount of business.

He said the farmer-owned stock and reserves of the association now total 73 per cent of the net worth of the association, compared to 70 per cent a year ago. He said the aim is 100 per cent farmer ownership.

Uhl said the Homeland National Farm association experienced one of its best years, making a total of $258,000 in loans.

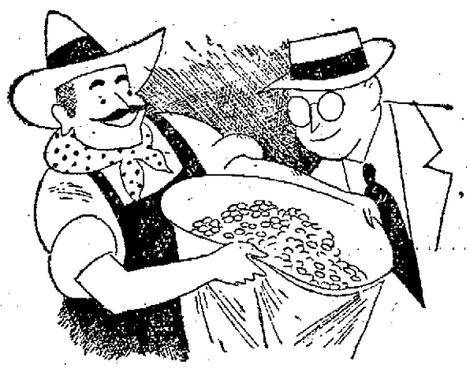
Serve A & P Coffee and They'll All Ask:

"Where Do You Get Such Delicious Coffee?"

Yes, that question is on everyone's lips after a few sips of A&P Coffee. And no wonder! For here is coffee so fresh... so rich... so downright delicious... that it's America's No. 1 favorite. The secret? The superb-quality South American coffees that go into each of the three famous A&P blends are kept in the whole, roaster-fresh bean till you buy... then Custom Ground exactly right for best results in your own coffeemaker. No coffee gives you more flavor and more for your money. And speaking of money, just see how thriftily A&P Coffee is priced! It's America's No. 1 buy. Try it today and hear everyone say, "Where do you get such delicious coffee?"

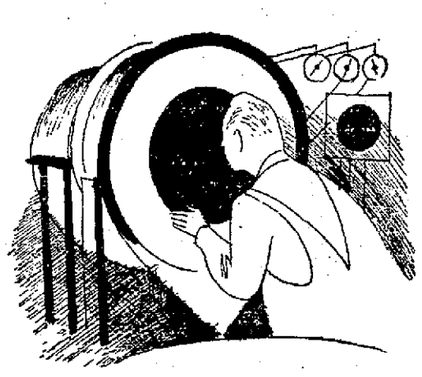
Serve Bean-Fresh, Custom Ground

A & P COFFEE



SELECTED IN SOUTH AMERICA

A&P's own on-the-spot buyers visit the leading coffee plantations of South America to get the tops in crops for A&P Coffee.



"FLAVOR-SAVER" ROASTED

To insure uniformly delicious flavor, every one of these carefully selected coffee beans is roasted to precise flavor peak.

SOLD IN THE WHOLE BEAN

A&P Coffee is sold only in the whole bean with all its naturally fine, roaster-fresh flavor sealed inside.

CUSTOM GROUND WHEN YOU BUY

Unlike factory-ground coffees, which are often ground days—or even weeks—before they're sold, A&P Coffee is never ground till the very moment you buy it. Then it's Custom Ground to your order, to one of seven different grinds—whichever produces best results in the type coffeemaker you use.

SOLD IN THRIFTY PAPER BAG

Because A&P Coffee is sold in Nature's own container—the whole bean—it needs no expensive container to preserve its fresh flavor and you share in the savings.

Album Recalls 'Old Times'

Attic 'Find' Contains 200 Pictures

Kodak views of Mansfield and its residents 40 and 50 years ago may be seen in an old album which Frank Konves has unearthed in the attic of his home, 202 North Mulberry street.

The scenes, in old-fashioned blue prints, are remarkably well-preserved considering the years that have gone by since they were taken.

The name of Ralph W. Porch appears on the inside of the front cover and frequently throughout the album are photographs of Kathleen Hosler, now Mrs. Thomas A. Scott, 481 Marion avenue.

Porch, an uncle of Mrs. Scott, now lives in the west.

Although the prints range from alligator farms in Florida to the Grand Canyon, and to Riverside park, Los Angles, Calif., many of them are of Mansfield and the people who lived here and the things that happened here a half century ago.

The old Hosler home at 395 Park avenue west, exterior and three views of the interior, occupy one page. There are other prints of the old Porch Homestead, and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Porch, taken in 1898. The flood of March 22, 1898 comes in for an entire page of attention. It shows pictures of the B. and O. siding, North Adams street, Main street from Sixth street north and North Franklin avenue, known today as the "flats" where most of the city's floods take their biggest toll.

Shown too, are the ruins of the Baxter Stove works after a disastrous fire of February 1899. The Elks carnival, which occupied the square in September, 1899, is shown in two views.

The old Dow, Mendenhall and Hershey, homes at one time among the city's show places, are included.

Will Hoover is shown behind the counter of his grocery store in 1900. Four pages are devoted to Sherman - Heineman park and one to South Park.

Included among the group pictures are those of Mrs. Scott. Mrs. Harriet Hedges Princehorn, Howard Hosler, the former Marguerite and Helen Eichelberger and Mrs. Scott's cousin, Helen Porter, then of Mt. Vernon. Atta Pickering, now Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff and a friend Rae Palmer, are in one picture; in another is the former Marie Shireman, and still another the late Anna E. Kemp, Mansfield librarian.

A number of the views are from Mt. Vernon where the Hosler relatives lived and include the store of W. A. Porter, Mrs. Scott's uncle and the Porter home.

The book must contain at least 200 photographs, and for "old timers" in the city would provide a bit of interesting reminiscence.

Knoves said that at one time, the cite of his home at 202 North Mulberry street was occupied by the Keiser-Ackerman building. The album was probably placed there by friends of either the old Mansfield families

The United States, with only 6 per cent of the world's land area, produces 60 per cent of the world's wheat.

Asks $25,000 For Damages

An action for $25,000 was filed today as the result of a traffic accident in which Mrs. Arthur Radke, 23, of Shelby, was killed Aug. 11, 1948.

The action was brought by Arthur Radke against Mrs. Ola Wirick, of 116 Blanche street, as executrix of the estate of Earl Delos Wirick, deceased. Wirick died three days after the collision.

In his petition, filed by Attorneys Theodore Lutz and Robert L. Ross, Radke claims that Wirick was negligent and careless. The fatal crash occurred at Myers and Rock roads.

In a second suit, Radke asks $2,100 from the estate for damages to his car, which was driven by his wife at the time.

Radke said that he presented both claims to Mrs. Wirick, the widow of the deceased man, but the claims were turned down.

Get Questionnaires

About 3,500 Army reserve officers in Ohio will receive questionnaires from Second Army reserve headquarters this week.

Lt. Col. Claude P. Rowan, unit instructor of the organized reserve in Cleveland urged recipients today to return the questionnaires as an aid in determination of proper mobilization assignments and permit maintenance of essential uniform information at all Army headquarters concerned with officers' reserve activities.

Biggest Ram Cage Crowd Is Expected

Madison high's scheduled basketball game with Bucyrus tomorrow night will be played in the Senior high school gym, it was announced today by Wayne E. Miller, Madison principal.

All arrangements have been completed with Senior high officials, Miller said. It will mark the first time Madison has ever used a Senior facility for a home athletic contest.

Harold W. Arlin, president of the Mansfield board of education, readily granted the use of the gym after a meeting of the Senior high athletic board.

SUGGESTED AFTER DRAW

Transfer of the game to Senior high was suggested after Bucyrus and Madison drew each other in the Class A sectional drawings last Saturday.

Schools in the tournament had, however, agreed not to use the Senior high floor for practice prior to the tournament and permission had to be granted from all tournament schools for the transfer of the game.

Since the Senior high gym seats up to 1,500 people it will undoubtedly mark the largest number of Madison fans ever to see the Ram team in action at any one time. Only about one-third that number can be accommodated at Madison and in tournament play, Madison of course has been limited in number of seats.

SEE CO-FAVORITES

The game will give an opportunity to Mansfield fans to see the team which is co-favored with Senior high to win the sectional joust here the first week in March.

Bucyrus has won 11 games since losing a one-pointer to Shelby in the season opener and currently leads the Northern Ohio league.

The Redmen were one of the two teams to beat Madison before regional play last season. The two teams have not met before this year.

NO ADVANCE

No advance sale of tickets will be made for the game. All 1,500 will go on sale at the door with student admission being 35 cents and adult 75 cents.

Doors will open at 6:15 p. m., Miller said, with the reserve preliminary getting under way at 7:15.

Larry Swackhammer and Wetz Harrer will serve as officials.

Salary Scale Big Pro Fault

BUCYRUS — Robert Monnett, former Bucyrus High gridiron star and an outstanding halfback with the Green Bay Packers professional football team for several seasons, told Bucyrus Kiwanians that the exorbitant salary demands of the present professional league players may result in the discontinuance of the All American Conference.

Monnett, who is sales manager of the Galion Iron Works, told the Kiwanians at their weekly meeting here that something must be done to hold down expenses as squads of 33 men represent a terrific expenditure.

Closer cooperation between the National League and the All-American Conference would result in a considerable reduction in the weekly payrolls of various teams, Monnett concluded.

Ontario and Bellville Cagers Have Big Date

By CHARLEY STINE

Plans for county tournaments occupy the thoughts of most coaches this time of year but Harry Regula of Bellville and Dick Casad of Ontario hardly know there is such a thing in the offing.

For them the big game of the year is set for Friday night when their teams collide head-on at Bellville with the Richland county league championship at stake.

Ontario can clinch the title by winning but a Bellville victory throws the teams into a tie and opens the way for a possible co-championship between as many as three teams. Lexington has a chance to creep into the show if things break right for them.

Both Regula's Blue Jays and Casad's Warriors are going through stiff drills this week. Ontario ordinarily practices only twice a week but has worked every afternoon and has scheduled a light session today.

Casad blames the excess pressure of a long winning streak with helping Lexington beat his team last week. "Our play was ragged all the way", the slim skipper says, "but I think the boys are more relaxed this week and will be able to play at their best."

Refusing to take a coaches patented gloomy attitude, Casad added: "If we're playing good ball, we'll beat 'em."

Down route 13 the expected outcome was a little different. Coach Harry Regula would not openly predict his team's victory but thought that his boys had "a good chance to tie it up."

Ontario won the first meeting of the two schools, 37-33, but even Casad admitted that Bellville's fast passing team had improved since that time.

Regula sounded an unintended warning for tournament opposition when queried regarding the site of the game.

"I don't think our own floor will help us too much", he said. "We usually work better on a large floor."

John Simpson Drops Contest To Ontario 5

By TOM M'CULLOCH

ONTARIO — John Simpson's hard luck basketball team lost its seventh game of the season here yesterday by a 22-17 score to the Ontario reserves.

Simpson took a quick 4-0 lead but Ontario caught up and led at the quarter, 7-6. In the second stanza, Ontario gradually pulled away and led at the half, 16-12. The Warriors kept the margin and, in the final minutes, stalled the game

SCORING LEADERS

Carl Duffner of Ontario led in scoring with four baskets and one free throw for nine points while Simpson's Lewis Luckie scored six on three field goals.

Simpson made three of seven foul shots while the home team connected on only four of 14. The Bulldogs committed 11 personal fouls and Ontario seven. Simpson lost Benny Carbetta via the five foul route in the last quarter.

Simpson's reserve team dropped its second game in eight starts in a double-overtime game to the Ontario freshmen, 32-30. Earhart had 14 points for the freshmen while W. B. Jones followed closely scored the winning basket.

Cincy Signs Playing Trio

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, still optimistic of improving last year's seven place finish, counted 30 players in the fold today.

Three more signed contracts were locked in the Reds' strong box.

One came from Bobby Adams, a second baseman who had to sit out most of last season because of injuries. The second came from Everett (Bud) Lively, a right-handed pitcher who won 15 and lost 4 with Tulsa of the Texas League and finished with an earned run average of 2.93. And the third was from Joe Adcock, who hit .279 while with Columbia of the Sally League.

Mitsch's Store Gets Top Spot In 'B' League

Frankie Mitsch's Cornor store took over undisputed possession of first place in the National basketball league last night by walloping cellar-dwelling Four Square Gospel, 52-20.

Mitsch's led only 12-8 at the end of the first quarter but soon got going to notch its fourth second half victory. Four Square has lost five straight games.

AVC surprised Au Construction with a 31-24 victory.

In another National league game, the Salesmen upset Home Materials by a convincing, 45-21 score. The defeat was Home Materials first in the second half season and knocked it out of a tie for first place.

Westinghouse took over second place in the American league by beating Main Cigar Store, 44-37, in the other game on the program. Bowen of Westinghouse ripped the nets for 20 points and Don Sands for 16.

Pro Football Peace Due Next Season—Edwards

"The two pro football leagues will get together officially by next year and are already doing some business behind the scenes," Cleveland Brown Tackle Coach Bill Edwards said at the Amvets club last night.

Edwards surprised the group by a statement that individual teams of the two leagues are now making "gentlemen's agreements" in regards to drafted players.

"For instance, let's say the Browns and Chicago Bears each have drafted the same two men. By agreement, the Bears try to sign one and the Browns the other.

"The days of wild, high-priced bidding for players' services are thus already over," Edwards said.

The occasion for the revealing statements was an informal question and answer period which followed showing of the Browns' movie, "The Year Around With the Browns" to some 75 Amvet members and guests.

MAY HAVE PLAYOFF

Edwards went on to say that it might be possible for the leagues to get together in time for the Browns to play the Philadelphia Eagles in a championship game prior to the opening of next season.

Peace would have been made in Chicago last December, Edwards opined, had it not been for Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins.

The leagues were ready to merge when Marshall was asked to waive the rule which says franchises must be 100 miles apart. He agreed with the provision he get compensation.

"Then he asked for a half million dollars," Edwards said.

Questioned regarding rumors that he had been offered head coaching jobs at Miami and Vanderbilt universities, Edwards replied with the time-honored dodge, "Yeah, I read that in the paper, too."

An International News Service dispatch from Cleveland said, however, that Edwards had been

Tom Henrich Gets 4th Top Yank Salary

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— Tommy Henrich, once known as a "mechanical" ball player, today treasured the fourth highest contract ever awarded by the New York Yankees to move into a class with such storied stars as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe Dimaggio.

Baseball is a solid dollars and cents business. So this substantial recognition, a wage estimated at $35,000, finally brought full satisfaction to the six foot husky from Massillon, O., who decided to be a ball player after watching the bambino hit three home runs—and now holds down the Babe's own right field spot when not called upon to play first base.

As such, Tommy is an inspiration to the kid who finds his dreams coming true the hard way. For Henrich is a contradiction of the old theory that great players are born, not made.

Everything he has, the ability to hit to all fields and to trap a ball, came the hard way. It was practice, and more practice.

Five Lettermen Dot Sandusky's Lineup

Mansfield Senior high school goes against a letterman-loaded Sandusky basketball team tomorrow night on the Blue Streaks' floor.

Five monogram winners hold down places on the Streak squad but only three have managed to cinch starting berths. Of the trio, Captain Don Barth is playing his third year as a Sandusky regular. Barth stands 6-1 and tops the Sandusky scoring with an average of 13.6 per game.

Two other 6-1 veterans, Bob Seaman and Bob Homberger are first stringers. The latter was a starting guard last year while Seaman was a varsity sub. Seaman is the No. 3 Streak scorer with a 6.4 average.

NOW A THREAT

Sandusky has suddenly blossomed into a threat after a slow start. The Streaks dropped four of their first seven games but have now won three straight with a rugged defense as the standout quality. The win-streak was compiled at the hands of Cleveland Collinwood, 37 to 16; Bowling Green, 38 to 33 and Ashtabula, 37 to 33.

The latter pair of games fall into the upset category while Collinwood could manage only five field goals.

Other victories were achieved over Norwalk, 35 to 30; Elyria 39 to 30 and Lorain, 50 to 43. Sandusky was beaten by Fostoria, 32 to 41; Port Clinton, 40 to 46; Toledo Woodward, 40 to 41 and Ashland, 50 to 66.

For comparative purposes here's some Mansfield scores with the above opposition: Elyria, 49 to 30; Collinwood, 49 to 36 and Ashland, 56 to 40 and 43 to 41.

The other pair of Sandusky lettermen are: Ted Kaster, 6-4 center and Don Cottey, 5-9 guard. Kastor plays very little while Cottey alternates with Tom McGory, who was a member of the reserve squad last season. The fifth starter is Herb Kiger, 6-1 center. Kiger played reserve ball in 1947-48 and is the second leading scorer with a 7.2 average.

NO LETTERMAN

Gene Leavell, a starter until recently is the No. 7 man. He was a varsity second-stringer last season but did not earn a letter.

Senior high took over Sandusky, 44 to 40, last season while the Tyger sophs defeated the Blue Streak reserves, 41 to 25.

Another road game is on tap for Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers Saturday night at Norwalk. The Bengals have won their last two games after dropping five in a row.
